Affording Law School: Do Your Homework

Official cost-of-attendance estimates determine financial aid eligibility, but schools differ dramatically in how they assemble these estimates. To arrive at an accurate comparison, it is important to understand how each school develops its estimate, particularly living expenses, which can make a big difference in students' daily lives.

Emory University computes the estimated cost-of-living figures based on the Consumer Expenditure Survey (CES) and the Indexes of Comparative Costs, both produced by the US Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics. Although many universities utilize the low range of this survey, Emory uses the moderate cost-of-living numbers to allow students maximum financial aid eligibility. Many students' expenses are well below these estimates, as described in this guide.

Though it's not necessary to borrow the full amount available, it can be helpful to know the funds are there if you need them. Emory's Office of Financial Aid is committed to helping you determine the best solutions for your situation and your needs. Use this guide to get started.

Planning Your Legal Education

Attending law school is an investment in your future. There are a number of sources for funding your legal education. As with any investment, it is important to carefully examine your options.

» Scholarships. Emory Law’s Office of Financial Aid can assist you in identifying external scholarship opportunities. Also, many agencies, employers, and military and service organizations award funds to students in the form of scholarships, grants, or prizes.

» Federal Student Loans. Students may elect to use federal education loans such as Federal Direct Unsubsidized and Grad Plus Loans to help finance their educational expenses. We encourage students to borrow only what is necessary and to minimize expenses when possible.

» Private Education Loans. Private education loans may be an important funding source for students who need more loan funds than federal programs provide. Terms of private loans vary significantly. These loans can be more expensive than federal loans because the federal government does not guarantee them.

“Emory chooses moderate, rather than low, nine-month budget estimates to maximize students’ aid eligibility. That means students are less likely to run out of funds at the end of a semester, when they want to be focused on classes, not on their bank accounts. You have the option, of course, not to borrow the full amount you are approved for, and many Emory Law students find it quite manageable to live on much less than our estimates.”

Additional Potential Costs

Health Insurance

You may opt out of the Emory student health insurance plan ($3,816[^] for 2021–2022) if you are covered under another policy that meets Emory's coverage minimums. Many of our students are eligible to continue coverage under their parents' plans or choose to buy an independent plan that meets Emory requirements.

Parking

An Emory annual parking pass will cost $672.[^] Many first-year students opt instead to take advantage of Emory's extensive free shuttle system. Students may also purchase an Eagle permit, a reloadable parking card designed for occasional use.

Budgeting for Law School

Your lifestyle choices make a difference.

Based on Emory Law's estimated total cost of attendance, you would receive approximately $29,672 for variable expenses, i.e. rent, food, books, if you borrow the full amount (paid in semester installments) How far will that go? It depends on your choices. This table shows a range of high, mid, and low estimates for major living expenses:

LIVING EXPENSE RANGE

HIGH ^	MID -	LOW v
-----------	----------	----------

MONTHLY RENT

$1,300/MONTH	$850/MONTH	$600/MONTH
---------------	-------------	-------------

HEALTH INSURANCE*

$3,816/YEAR^	$643/YEAR	$0/YEAR
---------------	------------	----------

FOOD

$660/MONTH	$510/MONTH	$408/MONTH
-------------	-------------	-------------

TRANSPORTATION

--------------	--------------	--------------

MISC.

≈$279/MONTH	$175/MONTH	$100/MONTH
--------------	-------------	-------------

* In this example, we have assumed the Emory Student Health Insurance estimate as the high range, an external plan for the mid range, and a parent-paid plan as the low range.

^ Estimate, subject to change.

How much can you borrow?

You can borrow up to $92,326 for the 2021–2022 school year, which is calculated by adding tuition and fees, as well as the upper range of variable and potential cost estimates presented on page three of this guide. You are not required to borrow the full amount, but the funds will be available if they are needed.

Below is a nine-month (fall and spring semesters) hypothetical budget, based on the ranges for common living expenses outlined on the previous page:

FOLLOWING A BUDGET

>> CAN HELP REDUCE THE OVERALL AMOUNT OF FUNDS YOU NEED TO BORROW

 If you choose to buy an Emory parking permit, a $672 parking fee (approx.) is charged in the fall semester directly to your student account. In this example, the high range assumes a parking permit and gas expenses. The low range assumes that you utilize public transportation and Emory's free shuttle system.

NINE-MONTH BUDGET RANGE

	HIGH ^	MID -	LOW v
 RENT	$11,700	$7,650	$5,400
 HEALTH INSURANCE*	$3,816	$643	$0
 FOOD	$5,940	$4,590	$3,672
 TRANSPORTATION	$2,709	$2,214	$1,125
 BOOKS	$1,770	$800	$600
 LOAN FEES	$1,228	$1,228	$1,228
 MISC.	≈$2,509	$1,575	$900
 TUITION AND FEES	$62,654	$62,654	$62,654
 POTENTIAL TOTAL COST OF ATTENDANCE	$92,326	$81,354	$75,579

The table above illustrates how your individual financial decisions can impact your cost of attending law school. Depending on the choices you make — where you live, whether you have a roommate, how much you eat out, etc. — your total cost of attending Emory Law could be dramatically lower than the high-range estimate.

Tips from Students

Three Emory Law students offer tips on how they've managed some of the major living expenses during law school, such as housing, transportation, food, entertainment, and textbooks.

"I searched for the closest apartments near Emory because I wanted to walk to school. I do not have roommates, and that means I made a lot of cuts and sacrifices elsewhere in order to live less than a mile away from the law school. Knowing what I wanted made searching for an apartment easy."

LARIO ALBARRAN 21L
RENT = $1,652/MONTH

"I did not want to live alone so I room with my friend from undergraduate school. We found a two-bedroom, one bathroom apartment in Midtown. I would recommend searching for apartments before the summer when they begin to fill up fast."

SURESH BOODRAM 23L
RENT = $725/MONTH

Choosing Housing in Atlanta

For most students, housing represents their most significant living expense. Atlanta offers a broad range of options. Emory Law is located in a tree-lined pedestrian neighborhood with numerous house and apartment rentals within walking distance, along Emory's extensive free shuttle routes, or an easy bike ride away. Share an apartment in a community with amenities, rent a studio or a carriage house, lease an urban loft, or split a rental house with others while enjoying Emory's state-of-the-art fitness facilities open to all students.

Popular neighborhoods include Virginia-Highland, Druid Hills, Toco Hills, Inman Park, Candler Park, Morningside, Midtown, and the City of Decatur. Visit the Emory Residential Life page, emory.edu/housing, and click on Graduate Housing for a list of available options.

"I live in an apartment with 2 roommates just a few miles from campus. We found each other on Emory's off-campus housing website and I don't mind living with other people to save."

NANCY JIN 23L
RENT = $560/MONTH

Managing Transportation Costs

Emory University—regularly recognized as a top green school in the US—promotes an environmentally responsible approach to transportation, offering an extensive free shuttle service around and beyond campus, even to Atlanta’s midtown business district.

STUDENT TIP

“I walk to campus, which is roughly a 20-minute trek, and I don’t leave Emory often outside of taking an occasional Uber for groceries—but I usually get rides when friends visit.”

LARIO,
TRANSPORTATION = $6/MONTH

“I drive a gas-efficient car to class, but I’m very resourceful when it comes to finding free parking. With a grocery store membership, gas is cheaper and I can use those points on snacks.”

NANCY,
TRANSPORTATION = $50/MONTH

“I drive to and from campus. To save money on gas, I usually fill up near campus where gas is typically cheaper than where I live.”

SURESH,
TRANSPORTATION = $60/MONTH

>> LIVING WITHIN WALKING DISTANCE TO CAMPUS OR NEAR A SHUTTLE ROUTE IS EASY, AND PARKING IS FREE AFTER 4 P.M. IN THE LAW SCHOOL PARKING DECK.

Strategizing on Textbooks

With planning, managing book expenses is an easy way to reduce your costs. There are a number of simple options that can help you spend less than the official Emory textbook estimate.

Many students save money by renting their law books from the bookstore, purchasing used texts online, and attending the student-run Emory Law Public Interest Committee (EPIC) used textbook and study aid sale on campus at the beginning of each semester.

STUDENT TIP

“I try to buy used books on Amazon and haven’t spent more than $800 per year on books.”

LARIO,
BOOKS = $800/YEAR

“I buy and rent textbooks cheap from other students when they’re done with them. I got my Torts textbook for $30. I also buy supplements and use MacMillan Law Library for other study aids.”

NANCY,
BOOKS = $550/YEAR

“I rent textbooks from Amazon at lower prices online. I also love buying textbooks from the EPIC book sale which is a great Emory Law resource for more affordable textbooks.”

SURESH,
BOOKS = $650/YEAR

Enjoying Atlanta

Atlanta offers food and entertainment options for every budget. An international destination, our dynamic city has it all: farmers markets, distinctive ethnic restaurants and grocery stores, haute cuisine, and hidden dives you don't want to miss. The city's rich cultural offerings include museums, theaters, and music venues, plus dozens of free local and international festivals each year. Atlanta's many parks and public trails are perfect for outdoor activities such as hiking, biking, water sports, and camping.

STUDENT TIP

"In Atlanta, I find time to visit Freedom Park, Piedmont Park, Ponce City Market, and the occasional movie theater. I grocery shop frequently so I don't eat out as often.

I try to stay away from malls to prevent unnecessary spending."

SURESH,

FOOD AND ENTERTAINMENT
= $300/MONTH

"Instead of spending a lot of money on entertainment, I enjoy doing free activities around campus, like playing on the law school's intramural soccer team, Learned Foot (a pun referencing Judge Learned Hand). In addition, every Sunday I walk to Emory's intramural fields to play pick-up games with other students."

LARIO,

FOOD AND ENTERTAINMENT
= $0/MONTH

ON CAMPUS,

>> EMORY HOSTS A FULL SCHEDULE OF MUSIC, SPEAKERS, AND THEATRICAL EVENTS, AND MANY AREA ATTRACTIONS OFFER DISCOUNTS OR SPECIAL NIGHTS FOR STUDENTS.

“Atlanta is a popular city, so that means there are apps available to download that will give you discounts when you take a picture of your restaurant receipts. I like to eat out and try new foods. With an app, I get money back and gift cards too.”

NANCY,

FOOD AND ENTERTAINMENT
= $200/MONTH

BUDGETING TIPS

- » Pay off as much consumer debt as possible before starting law school.
- » Set a budget and stick to it.
- » Get a roommate.
- » Limit the number of times you eat out each week.
- » Brown bag your lunch or organize potluck dinners with friends.
- » Ride the Cliff Shuttle or MARTA instead of driving in every day.
- » Limit use of credit cards.
- » Put off unnecessary expenses until after law school.
- » Take advantage of student discounts and on-campus activities.
- » Monitor your expenses carefully. Deposit funds into a savings account each semester and transfer just enough to your checking account for your expenses each month.
- » Use a student loan repayment calculator to keep up with projected repayment amounts.
- » Clean up negative credit history on your credit report, if possible, and keep your credit clean while you are enrolled.
